

How Students Access the Writing Portal

Writing prompts are automatically generated for all SeeReader selections students have read with comprehension scores of 80% or higher. Students access their writing prompts from within Writing on their Student Dashboards.

Writing practice can be a very beneficial optional extra that gives students the opportunity to link what they have just read with their own knowledge. Writing teaches students to focus on evidence, ideas, and details when reading.

Please note the writing component is optional and not monitored by your tutor, however can be very beneficial where caregivers are able to check the work at home with their student.

Students Access and Respond to Prompts

Students access their writing prompts from the Student Dashboard by clicking the Writing button.

Students see writing prompts for every SeeReader selection read with 80% or higher comprehension.

Students click on any of the writing prompts to begin, edit, or complete a response.

Once a prompt is chosen, students have access to the full text selection as they complete their written responses.

Students use the drop-down menu to designate their works as either a drafts or a completed assignments to be submitted electronically.

